14th ANNUAL NYC AWARDS BALL

Hosted by: Jack and Selvin Mizrahi

Date: May 7, 2006

Location: New York, NY

Contact: Destra528@aol.com

Frank's Inside Word: Will the House of Mizrahi take home "House of the Year?" Will the Prodigies come to storm? Will the Balenciagas reclaim their throne? Will Selvyn Mizrahi or Jacen Prodigy be named "Shadiest Butch Queen of the Year"? This year's New York City Awards Ball promises to be full of surprises and conflama. With grand prize being $1,000 for BO Sex Siren expect to encounter some of the hottest boys the ballroom has ever witnessed."

HOUSE OF KHAN BALL

Date: Memorial Day Weekend

Location: Washington, D.C.

Date: May 27, 2006

Admission: $30

Contact: James Khan, 202-359-0637

Frank's Inside Word: Memorial Weekend just wouldn't be the same with the legendary House of Khan ball. Expect the entire rocksocking D.C. based Khan contingency, as well as plenty of gay boi "passerbyers" in town for the rest of D.C.'s delicious weekend events.

THE FASHION TRACE BALL

Hosted by: Japan Manolo-Blahnik, Yummie Prodigy & Selvyn Mizrahi Presents

Location: Ball Room Headquarters, Chicago, IL.

Admission: $30

Contact: Japan_Manolo_Blahnik@Yahoo.com

Frank's Inside Word: New York City's Jack Mizrahi, Chicago's Nieman Marcus Escada & and Philadelphia's Jay Manolo Blahnik will be commenting this much anticipated Chicago June fling. The always-delicious Father Oreo Omni is expected to storm the floor for sex-siren and All American Runway, as are the sexy boys of the House of Mizrahi, including the light-skin bandits Twan & Chuck Mizrahi. Expect a "who's who" Chicago crowd with plenty of New Yorkers in town for the special occasion.

The underground house-ballroom scene is going "national." "National" in the sense that whereas New York City used to once dominate the ball scene as its epic center, nowadays Chicago, Atlanta, and Washington D.C. are hosting the most anticipated balls of the year. From the $5,000 Grand Prize at the New York City "Collections Ball" in May to the House of Khan's notorious Memorial Day weekend soiree in Washington D.C., the Spring 2006 season promises to be full of memorable moments and hot-bois abound.

Flavamen's ballroom correspondent Frank Mizrahi gives us the official "blow-by-blow" of where you need to be and what you should expect from this season's hottest "must-attend" functions. We'll see you on the runway!

Flava Notes: The Inside Scoop

Look for a standing room only, jam-packed crowd (1000+). Expect a major turnout by the three undisputed "powerhouses" of the contemporary scene: House of Mizrahi, Balenciaga, and Prodigy. This will be the ball that creates new legends, and burns the reputation of those already deemed as such. It's a must see. Bring your camera and a fold up chair.

The FLAVA Perfect 10

The Ballroom's Sexiest Ten Men of 2006

1.

Whitney Miyake-Mugler (New York City)

Probably the most admired man in the history of the ballroom scene, Whitney Miyake Mugler has continued to set the standard in 2006 for overall sexiness, class, and leadership.

2.

Twain Mizrahi (Chicago)

This no nonsense, strong & silent, homeboy-from-around-the-way has dominated the sex-siren category in Chicago like no one since the legendary Father Taz Ultra Omni (who dominated Chicago's scene in the late nineties). The crown-jewel of the Midwest chapter of the House of Mizrahi, it's no wonder Twain took home the "Sex Siren of the Year" award at February's Midwest Awards Ball.

3.

Dash Prodigy (Philadelphia)

Barely legal (18 years old), with just a "dash" of all the right ingredients, Dash Prodigy has been that "oh-my-god-who-is-that?" kid since the moment he stormed the scene in mid 2005. He didn't waste any time rising to the "cream of the crop": according to the widespread rumors, he's married to our #1 Flava Perfect 10, the icon Whitney Miyake-Mugler.

Raphael Allure (Detroit)

After disappearing for a few years, this mysterious Detroit native son is slaying the Midwest competition all over again. With a new house (from Dutch to Allure) and a new look we see big things in this man's ballroom future. He's sweet, he's friendly, and he's super-sexy: all requirements for the "Perfect 10."

5.

Darryl Prodigy (Chicago)

At 6'3 and 180lbs, Darryl Prodigy is the ballroom's quintessential All American model: light, bright, and towering. Though he was robbed in D.C. at the Nostalgia Ball (grand prize instead went to New York City's Zolij Miyake-Mugler), few can deny the impact this young man has made on and off the runway with his showmanship, creative style, and overall sexiness.

6.

JT Mizrahi (Atlanta)

"The blacker the berry, the sweeter"...we all know the rest. Hailing from the A-T-L, this rough-neck, country-bumkin with the Georgia-boy accent has all the kids trying to find out if he's on the market. His win in North Carolina in March at the Definitions Ball established him as one of the hottest new sex-sirens on the scene.

Dante Aphrodite (New York City)

Even though the kids like to try him, few can deny that when all is said and done this man is sexy and has been one of the most consistent sex-sirens of the past year. From the Latex Ball, to the Icon Ball, as well as most of Jack Mizrahi's Superball Sunday series, Dante has continued to bring it harder and harder at each competition. And have you peeped that mega-booty? We haven't seen something as round and luscious since Elliot Milan of Atlanta.

Derrick Allure (Washington D.C.)

Even though he's officially taken (he's married to D.C.'s "realness with the twist" diva Anthony Balenciaga), Derrick Allure still manages to be one of the ballroom's hottest sex symbols. Perhaps it's his strong and silent "man's-man" persona; maybe its those mysterious, intense glances he likes to throw over the crowd, or maybe it's just all that body and booty, Derrick makes our "Perfect 10" list for being the perfect gentleman and ideal competitor.

9.

Pony Manolo-Blahnik (New York City)

When the ballroom history books are written, Pony Manolo-Blahnik will probably easily go down as the greatest male voguer ever. The way this man has revolutionized "butch queen dramatics performance" is like none other. But everyone knows that what really makes him so damn special is that he's also a little cutie.

10.

"Coco" Rico Allure (Washington D.C.)

Not many men can go from winning New York City's coveted masculinized "Sex Siren of the Year" honor in 2003 to being a major contender for the cunty-femme "Realness with a Twist" award in 2006. "Coco" Rico Allure has done just that, and that's exactly why we love him. Whether he's the tradey, thugged-out, blatinio papi or pussy, cunty vowing diva, Rico's showed us that...uh..."versatility" is the key to being the "Perfect 10."

The FLAVA 25

The Ballroom's
Top
25 Butch
Queen
Competitors
in 2006

With nearly half of 2006 already behind us, its time to talk about which ballroom kids have been turning it consistently for the first half of the year. After closely examining the results of this year's Icon, Philly Awards, Nostalgia, D.C. Capital Awards, P.O.C.C., and Jasmine Mizrahi balls, as well as all the local gossip and underserved tea, we've come up with the "Top 5" competitors nationally in Sex Siren, Body, Face, Runway, and Performance for the first half of 2006. These boys constitute the official "Top 25" of the scene from January to June 2006. Unlike some publications, our list isn't based on "girlfriends" "shade" or "lies" its about who has made the biggest impact in their category and region over the past six months.

So here it is: the top 5 in five major categories, totaling 25 boys in all. Stay tuned for the ladies next time.

REDICKULOUS

Georgia native Redickulous, our coverman for May/June 2006, is pure molten gold on the dance floor. From the photos alone, you can tell the guy knows how to work that slim, well-toned physique which he's done from Atlanta to Miami to the orange-red sunsets of the Bahamas, driving many a brotha to the point of insanity with lust.

The 25 year-old Hotlanta resident, surprisingly mature and together for his age, has come to be comfortable with himself at last. From joining the military (even before his high school graduation), to marrying his girlfriend at the tender age of 19 (the couple only divorced late last year, though had been separated for some time), Redickulous is recognizing himself at last as the hardworking, proud, African-American gay male he is.

FlavaLife's good fortune in finding this sexy mocha man began when Redickulous joined Cocodorm.com, where he often browsed the site and would even put on an occasional show for his extremely appreciative audience. He met with FlavaWorks while on a trip to Chicago then kept running in to the guys from Flava in various clubs he'd perform in around the country ("Man, they were everywhere I was at, really working those clubs!"). Eventually becoming friends with some of these guys, Redickulous was approached to pose for FlavaMen and had no problem with the full-frontal thing, but at the same time thought, why would a dude pay to see him in a club, if he could open up a magazine and see Redickulous for free? So he kept it real and kept it covered in print, feeling a more sensual and erotic mystery would make for some burning pages in FlavaLife.

And indeed it does, for this single, versatile and dead-sexy brotha, who in another man seeks "someone with confidence in himself. So many dudes won't walk around with their shirts off, even if they got muscular bodies. For me, sex appeal is a guy who removes his shirt with the confidence that he knows he looks good; is comfortable in his own skin." A brief, six-month fling after his divorce has kept Redickulous single for now and, at least for a short time, wanting to stay that way. But a warning to the homies out there, if you want this little bruh's attention, you gotta keep it real; no playas or punks allowed. Redickulous has a twin (sorry guys, but the twin is straight), and two older bro's who make sure that any guy Redickulous dates is worthy of bringing home to mama. But if you're a built, masculine, confident dude with your head and your shit together, Redickulous just might be up for a little TLC. Hell, maybe even a private show.

One that could melt the damned elastic in your shorts, if you ain't careful.

BOOK REVIEW
By Rod McCullom

DON'T SHOOT! I'm Coming Out

How to "Man-Up" &
Set Heterosexuals
"Straight"
by Benn Setfrey

Review/Interview by Rod McCullom

"Homophobia in the black community is the reason there is not a single world-famous Black masculine man who is openly gay."

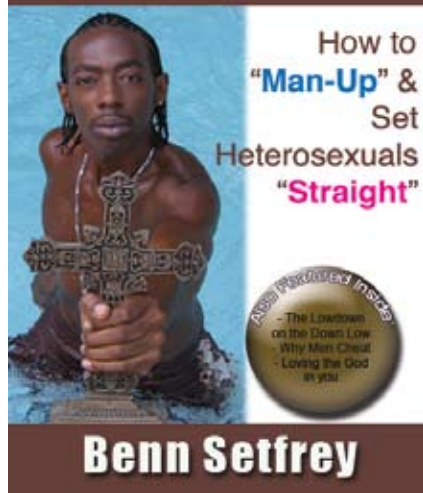

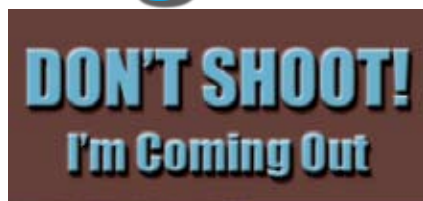

Benn Setfrey's style is blunt, outspoken, and, he takes no prisoners. Benn actually seems to appreciate some of the controversy around his new book Don't Shoot! I'm Coming Out: How to "Man-Up" & Set Heterosexuals "Straight," which is a self-help book for black gay men and boys.

"I heard that there's a silent boycott on my book in Washington D.C.," he says. "Because I'm asking them to man up."

Actually, the title only says "man up" but Setfrey's recently self-published, 230+ page book asks for more than that. He specifically argues that too many black gay men are misled into believing that effeminate behavior is a preferred social trait. "Our street sissy quota has been met," Setfrey tells Flavalife. "You do not have to be effeminate to be gay. It's not a prerequisite, precursor, or a mandate."

Needless to say, Setfrey's words in Don't Shoot! I'm Coming Out are not politically correct—especially in the current climate, where many black gay role models suggest that such words are tantamount to internalized homophobia. But Setfrey's brand new book is selling and he's receiving favorable reviews in big newspapers, radio and television.

Benn Setfrey's style is different because his route hasn't been that of a traditional gay author. He's not an activist or a journalist, but a 39 year-old former schoolteacher. The author currently resides in Florida and makes a living as a voice-over artist and professional development consultant. However, he grew up in Milwaukee and taught school there and in Chicago for many years. Although he has been having sex with other men since his teens, Benn Setfrey was not openly gay—especially while as a teacher in the Chicago Public Schools. "I didn't show up to work as a gay man in a half-top, Apple bottoms, and flip-flops singing 'I'm Every Woman'. I saved that for the club!"

Obviously, that last part was a joke, but Setfrey says he tried to cultivate a nominally masculine exterior—and went a little further. "Working in a predominantly female environment, women begin to inquire. That's why I created a wife and kids," Setfrey says. In his book, he adds, "I discovered the best way to convince the staff that I was straight was by sleeping with the female staff members who forced themselves on me." Benn considers himself bisexual and says that his previous behavior was most certainly "down low" but it's all in the past. Today, he is enjoying a ten-year relationship with partner Mandel Wright.

And that's exactly why some will argue that a self-help book like Don't Shoot! I'm Coming Out: How to "Man-Up" & Set Heterosexuals "Straight" is needed today. "This book isn't a gimmick, a get-rich scheme," the author says. "I'm not trying to capitalize on being gay. I'm putting a book out there that was not out there when I was a young man. And believe me, it wasn't there."

Don't Shoot is written in a conversational, easy-to-read style that will probably endear itself to many younger readers—and irritate the country club crowd. All of the chapters are chock-full of the slang that you often hear in the streets, online or in the club. At first, it's somewhat difficult to grasp—why counsel young gay men against twirling down the streets if the writing talks to them with so much slang? But, as mentioned earlier, Setfrey is an educator who undoubtedly knows the value of meeting students at their level. "After ten years of teaching in two large urban public school districts in the Midwest," Benn writes. "I decided to break my silence and break some faces."

The book is divided into about a dozen chapters—many with amusing names, such as "Gays to Men" or "Benne Gaye"—that evolve in an almost linear fashion. The earlier chapters include more facts and figures on gays, socioeconomic status, HIV, etc. Those are like a primer. The later chapters are more confidence building and advanced exercises—creating sex appeal ("ask your friend in the beginning what he's attracted to and see do you have what it takes to keep his attention"), work ethics ("never date a man who doesn't have a profession if you are a professional"), and, an almost hilarious chapter on dating advice and the dreaded game of "telesissy."

After reading Don't Shoot! I'm Coming Out: How to "Man-Up" & Set Heterosexuals "Straight," it would be safe to assume that more than a few people will be upset. The language is quite blunt—effeminate men are referred to as "doughnuts," "krispy crèmes," but everyone is fair game here—but the message is even stronger: Black gay men need role models of all kinds. "Men who are fortunate enough to be born straight acting and appearing cherish that gift," Setfrey says. "Why should you throw yourselves to the wolves/ Unless, like me, you're sick and tired of being sick and tired." ■

State of the Black Union...

DISAPPOINTING

By Jasmyne A. Cannick

The absence of any substantive conversation about the divisive tactics and issues used to distract Blacks and keep us at odds at this year's State of the Black Union hosted by television and radio commentator Tavis Smiley in Houston, Texas, was deeply disappointing and frustrating. Often billed as the national forum for discussing the issues that are most important to Black America, this year's forum was used to launch Smiley's Covenant With Black America, a comprehensive plan on how to build a stronger Black America.

Even after Smiley incessantly repeated that he wanted make sure "everybody" was at the table, his plan failed to include Black lesbians and gays.

Going into 2008 presidential election, Black Americans are more divided than ever on issues of political ideology and moral values. So any meaningful exchange about Blacks and political power must include divisive wedges that keep us from that power.

One fact that we cannot ignore is that Black pulpits continue to be for sale to the highest bidder and Black votes are being sold to the GOP under the guise of protecting America's moral values. For instance, the Black vote in Ohio in 2004 turned out around the issue of gay marriage, at the expense of larger issues.

We will never be able to make any systemic changes in our healthcare, educational reform, environmental racism, access to affordable neighborhoods, jobs, wealth, and economic justice if we vote a political slate based solely on opposing gay marriage.

During the multitude of speechifying made during the Black Union conference, there was a huge emphasis placed on holding both the Black and the majority leadership accountable. I hold the conference organizers accountable: when we fail to address critical issues like gay marriage, we fail our community.

How is it that you can have Nation Islam Leader the Honorable Minister Louis Farrakhan and Reverend Al Sharpton on the same panel as the anti-gay Hi-Impact Coalition's Bishop Harry Jackson and yet there is no conversation about wedge issues used to divide Blacks?

Sharpton has pledged to fight homophobia in the Black community, including Black churches, and Farrakhan extended his hand to gays during the Millions More Movement March. But Jackson joined with white Christian evangelical Lou Sheldon to organize Black pastors to "protect" the institution of marriage.

Yet during the three-hour plus conference televised "live" on C-Span, it was only progressive Princeton professor and author Cornel West mentioned "sexual orientation" and economist Dr. Malveaux who clearly articulated the frustration that many people have with today's Black church and "pimp daddy pastors," even to the disapproval of the audience.

Even more shocking than the exclusion of gays from this supposedly inclusive conversation about the State of the Black Union was the failure to mention the impact of HIV/AIDS on Blacks. All the wealth and economic justice in the world won't do us any good if we're not alive to enjoy it.

The courting of Black pastors by Republicans using moral values as common ground is problematic if we're trying to build a unified voice and vote for the best policies for Blacks. We are accountable to each other and as long as Black leaders exclude lesbians and gays from the conversation, we'll continue to allow ourselves to be divided and conquered.

Not talking about it is bad. Not wanting to talk about it is worse.
